Spring is on its way and the warm weather is making its way back. We’re already half way into the semester and have many awesome upcoming events like help with finding jobs, Getting to Graduation guest speakers, and game nights to meet other Trio students and wind down from the stress this semester. Just a reminder, summer and fall registration for 2021 is also opening up by March 15th so keep an eye on upcoming classes that you may be looking into. The month of March marks Women’s Month and at the University of Utah, Women’s Week will consist of events focused on issues and challenges faced by those who identify as female or women. Make the best of this month by engaging in campus activities, enjoying the beginning of Spring and to take advantage of the warm weather! Take a moment to go outside and also engage in physical activities with friends and family.

Tutoring

Free tutoring is available for all TRIO students. If you need further assistance on resources for tutoring please reach out to your TRIO advisor or navigator for more information.

We understand during these challenging times you may not want to ask for help. Please reach out to TRIO if you have questions.
Mohamed Abdi Dalmar

We would like to introduce you to Mohamed Abdi Dalmar who is a senior at the University of Utah College of Engineering majoring in electrical engineering. The program is one of the most affordable programs within the Pac-12 institutions. He is the recipient of One Refugee scholarship and here is a glimpse of who Mohamed is. He is from Kenya who first found his interest in electricity at refugee camp, where running water and electricity is non-existent at the time. They used kerosene lamps and when he seen his first light bulb he knew that he wanted to learn more about it. Mohamed came to the U.S. to seek opportunities in college by first attending Salt Lake Community College, and joining TRIO STEM. As a first-generation student he is fortunate to have a supportive family who listened and found collective resolutions. When he transferred to the University of Utah he learned to ask questions as much as possible because no question is a dumb question. His belief on asking questions also relies on “if you do not ask questions you end up failing and the professor goes on but you end up with a failed grade”. We are very proud of you Mohamed and we wish you the best of luck.

The Women’s Leadership Summit (WLS) is free for all current U students. Faculty and staff are welcome to attend as well and are encouraged to make a donation to Student Leadership & Involvement to support this program for future students.

SAVE THE DATE
Women’s Week

is an annual, weeklong event focused on the issues and challenges faced by those who identify as female or women. Topics are relevant to today’s socioeconomic and political climate, intersectionality and cultural movements. Women’s Week is planned by a volunteer committee of students, faculty, and staff collaborating across the university. This year’s theme is “Inspiring a Movement.” Events will reflect on the history of women’s political leadership, celebrate women’s contributions to our communities, honor those who have come before us, endeavor to create community and belonging, and facilitate a collective call to action to make the changes that are needed to enact an equitable future.
